OLD AGE PENSIONS

There have been many inquiries regarding the liberalized old age pension law, passed by the legislature, signed by Governor Merriam with the remark that it was an advanced piece of social legislation, and which goes into effect on the 15th of next month.

Many had their hopes raised that a combination of the State and a Federal pension would produce a nice income and drive "the wolf away from the door." Such expectations were blasted with the issuance of an opinion by Attorney General U. S. Webb that the Federal pension could not be added to the State's allotment, but the recipient would be limited to the maximum of $35 a month. There are drawbacks even to this sum for if money is being received from any other source it is deducted.

A summary of the law, giving its salient features, will doubtless prove informative to those who are not familiar with its provisions.

Corpse Of Man In Female Garb Found By Cops

NEW YORK, July 31.—UP—A macabre murder mystery was discovered tonight by a police launch nosing among East River docks.

The body of a man—dead two months—wrapped in women's clothing with a woman's muf, was drawn from the waters.

The launch slid through flotsam revealed to be a bundle of clothing in the water. An officer bent to lift it up. He tugged. It was so heavy he needed help.

The clothing was attached to a heavy bundle under water and that by turn to wire by a 20-pound rock. Officers cut wires binding the bundle. Wrapped in a woman's green coat with fur collar was the corpse of a man, bound in tortuous fashion and shot through the head.

Sex Killer Is Found Guilty; To Be Hanged

PEORIA, Ill., July 31.—UP—A jury tonight found Gerald Thompson, 24, guilty of murdering pretty Mildred Hallmark and ordered him executed in the electric chair.

The jury thus thrust aside a defense claim that Thompson was insane, the victim of a tainted heritage which left him powerless to resist the impulses of lust. Thompson seated at the defense table, but without counsel in the absence of Ren Thurmon, appointed by the State to defend him, took the verdict without a tremor.

The jury was polled and all confirmed the verdict.

Posse Hunting Police Slayer Near San Jose

SAN JOSE, July 31.—UP—An isolated section of Santa Clara county became the focal point in a hunt for Robert Miller, suspect in the fatal shooting of Chief of Police F. R. Daw of Dunsmuir.

A squad of county officers rushed to an unexplained destination late in the day following reports that a definite trace of the fugitive had been obtained.

It was announced that investigators definitely had learned Miller formerly lived in San Jose, and until five days ago had occupied an apartment here.

Police said he shared the apartment with a woman said to be his wife and C. L. Johnson, now held in the Stockton county jail at Yreka as Miller's companion in a brief crime-expedition that ended with Daw's death. The two men allegedly held up a road house near Castella, Calif., then opened fire on Daw and Highway Patrolman George Malone when the officers attempted to arrest them.

A cleaning firm also was said to have identified clothing said to have been discarded by Miller after the hold-up and shooting as identical with garments handled by them when Miller was in San Jose.

Miller was believed to have come here to rejoin his wife.

Speaking of Sports

NEW YORK, July 31.—(UP)—All-World Gwynne Vanderbilt is lending all race-horse owners in money and races won this season but it is questionable whether he is even making expenses.

The young sportsman's thoroughbred have won close to $17,000, but the expense of maintaining and shipping his extensive stable from one end of the country to the other probably has wiped out all of his winnings. Vanderbilt is in the sport for pleasure, as indicated by the extensive and costly betting carried on by his "army" of horses.

KEEPS MARYLAND FARM

He maintains a farm at Maryland and employs scores of hands there and at his various stables. No taxation and entrance fees, feeding and other costs are paid by his racing interests.

Two Stables, his training center, is at the same place. Horses from their home barn at Belwood Park are sent to a hot country. The sent horses have been handled by Vanderbilt's stable, but Vanderbilt has been to Rockingham Park, N. H., twice, Narragansett Park, R. I., three, and Detroit, where he "chopped" out to Boston and out to Maryland.

The horses are trained first-class, and some of them have won as much as $10,000. Vanderbilt also has a stable at the famous "Pony Club" track in England. Vanderbilt's stable leads the field this season in number of shipments. And he is probably will establish a record for traveling before winter he raises the stable staff has approximately 200 out of town engagements to fulfill.

Chief of Vanderbilt's winners is Discovery, a sturdy son of Disposal. Discovery has won approximately $113,000, as captured his last race, the Butler Handicap, the Derby Handicap, the Butler Handicap, the Butler Handicap, and the Butler Handicap.

Discovery probably will continue that figure, because the colt is scheduled to race some more this season, probably in the $50,000 special at Narragansett Park in addition to the campaign at Saratoga, N. Y.

McFarland To Seek Review Of His Case

MARTINEZ, July 31.—An application for a rehearing by the State Supreme Court of the petition for a writ of certiorari filed by James McFarland, 50, Folsom convict, will probably be made after a study of the decision of the Supreme Court made yesterday, which denied the petition, it was revealed today.

Attorneys George Carmody and William Wollitz of Martinez represented McFarland and Carmody stated today that he was unable to state definitely what action would be taken in the case until he had seen a copy of this decision, but that after studying the decision it was quite probable a rehearing would be sought.

HARD BLOW

Interviewed at the county jail here today McFarland said he was "very disappointed by the decision."

"I shall wait until I see the decision before I decide what I want to do," he said. "Maybe I'll go ahead and maybe I won't."

HISTORY OF CASE

McFarland was sent to prison 2 years ago for the axe murder of Manuel Garcia, a Tassajara desert rancher on September 8, 1909. He served 17 years of a 50 year term entering prison in 1910 and remaining until 1927 when he was paroled. His parole was revoked in 1928 after he assertedly married in violation of terms of the parole and he has been in prison since that time.

His term, with credit for good time, expires in four years but he is now eligible for parole, it is understood.

PETITIONS FILED

Last fall McFarland filed a petition for a writ of certiorari in superior court here, claiming that he had discovered an error in his trial—that he had been sentenced to prison before he had been pronounced sane.

On November 10, 1934 Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston granted the petition and vacated the judgment.

This was followed by filing of an action by Attorney General U. S. Webb and District Attorney J. P. Hoey citing the jurist to show cause why a writ should not be issued prohibiting further proceedings in his court of McFarland's case, which was tantamount to a review of the case.

Two months ago all evidence in the case was presented to the Supreme Court and the matter was taken under submission.

CITY LEADERS WILL WELCOME DR. TOWNSEND

PITTSBURG, July 31.—City officials and leaders of civic organization officially will welcome Dr. F. E. Townsend to Pittsburgh on Sunday, August 18, when approximately 25,000 followers of the old age pension advocate are expected to gather at Municipal Park.

Mayor Hugh H. Donovan has been invited to act as the principal host at the picnic. He will be assisted by members of the City Council, President R. C. Bryce of the Chamber of Commerce and as many directors of that organization who wish to participate.

Tentative arrangements call for Mayor Donovan to give a brief address of welcome when Dr. Townsend arrives by airplane from Oakland.

Dr. Townsend's Pittsburgh appearance will be one of five major talks he will give on a week's visit to California from August 14 to 20, after which he will return East to continue his campaign for an old age pension.

He is expected to explain his plan for ending depression in detail and also give highlights of his spectacular career.

Sheridan Downey, who ran for the office of lieutenant governor in California on the Union-Social ticket at the last election, will be another speaker at the all-day affair.

There are now 12 Townsend clubs in Contra Costa county. In Martinez alone the membership has grown from 45 to 250 in the past few weeks, since it was learned that the noted Southern California lecturer was to appear in Pittsburgh.

Townsend followers in Northern California who obtain 100 or more new members for their club will be personally decorated by Dr. Townsend at the picnic. It is hoped that newsreel cameramen can be brought here to film the affair.

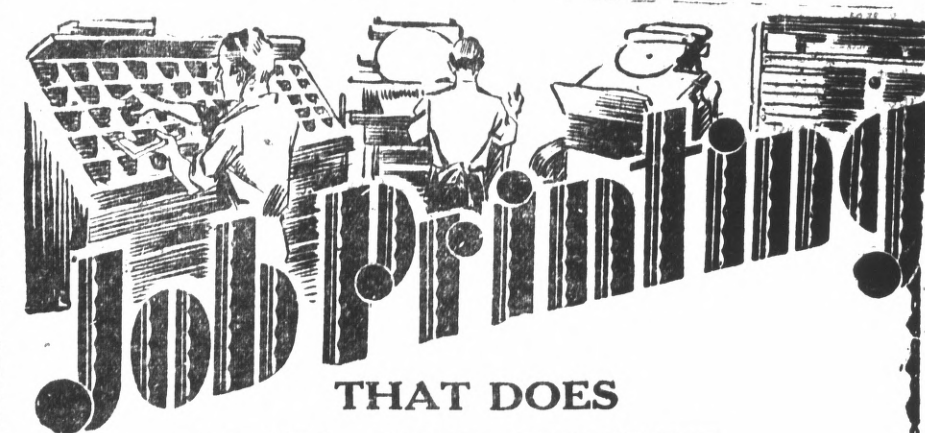

Special trains are being arranged in many Northern California cities to bring members to Pittsburgh on August 18.

Another feature of the picnic will be stunt flying by Herb Heald, noted East Bay aviator, who risks his life in "showing his flying should be done."

GIRL SCOUTS ACTIVITIES

A camping trip is being arranged for Girl Scouts at Pine Grove, Cobb, Calif., and any Scouts who wish to go are asked to call the Little House at once, as only a limited number can be accommodated. The group will leave Richmond next Monday, August 5, returning the following Saturday, August 10. The local director and Mrs. E. Lee of Troop 4 will accompany them. Detailed plans will be discussed today at Camp Baelder, and instruction in the rolling of blankets and the making of camp beds will be given.

Regular sessions of Camp Baelder will continue every Tuesday and Thursday during August, until the 23rd. Troop 5 of Bethany Chapel is in the lead now with the largest number of members present at each session.

At the last two sessions, the Scouts have been learning to make baskets and to weave mats as their new handicraft. The Green and Yellow teams are now tied in their game scores. Genevieve Brougham is captain of the Yellow Team, and Louise Gram of the Greens. Arlene Willard, Troop 2, has been chosen chairman of the color guard, and at each session trains the members in the proper method of raising and lowering the flag.

At the last session of camp, Betty and Martha Cox, two Marine Scouts from Berkeley, and Lola Bennett of Sanger, a cousin of Lerena Wolfson, Troop 3, were guests for the day. Mrs. Arthur Dice was a visitor during the afternoon. The local director, Mrs. Chas. Bappte and Mrs. Robert Easton were the leaders in charge of the session.

MRS. C. CALETT and grandson, Richard; Mrs. A. Casola and Mrs. V. Varallo have left on a visit to Clear Lake.

FARLEY SURE F. R. WILL WIN AGAIN IN 1936

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—UP—President Franklin Delano Roosevelt is as popular as ever and his reelection next year "is a cinch," Postmaster General James A. Farley, told newsmen today.

Farley is enroute to Honolulu on a vacation.

"The business never was for Roosevelt," said Farley. "Things have now reached the stage, apparently, where they can talk against the President."

SCORES KNOWN
"But the man in the street is not being deceived by the big business campaign against the President," Farley asserted. "The man in the street, whose dollars were in closed banks, when the President took over the White House, and all those whose mortgages were saved by the Home Owners Loan Corporation know what the President has done for them."

Farley said the charges of Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, that Roosevelt had violated his oath of office "don't mean a thing."

WITH WIFE
The postmaster general charged that Knox as "a candidate for President" who "has to have something to say or he is out of the picture."

Knox, who assailed the President and New Deal policies in a speech before California's G. O. P. leaders Monday night, left for Chicago a few hours before Farley's arrival.

Farley was accompanied by his wife and his executive assistant, Andrew O'Connell.

PERSONAL

MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL T. KING, former Richmond residents who have been residing at Fresno, have moved to Los Angeles where King, who is adjutant for an insurance firm, has been transferred.

FRANK PLEICH left yesterday morning on a vacation trip to the Russian River country.

FAUL COOK and wife and family have returned from a visit to Pasadena.

DR. GEORGE BOEHMER and MRS. BOEHMER returned yesterday morning from Mexico City where they attended the Lions' convention. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Farrer and Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Fraser who also attended the convention will return August 8, by boat.

Property Quiet

Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnson yesterday granted judgment in two suits to quiet title to Richmond property.

M. J. Sedina had filed suit to quiet title to two lots in Richmond against Manuel Brita, an administrator of the estate of Mary Brita.

In the other suit P. L. Goss asked quiet title to two lots in Richmond also. His action was against D. T. Gardner, an administrator of the estate of Clara Russell.

COUNT DENIES HE BLEW OFF BOTH HANDS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—UP—"Count" George Hay du Barry, eccentric Canadian mining promoter and piano dealer, called hysterically on his ancestors, Countess du Barry of Louis XV's court and American Secretary of State John Hay, to witness today that he had not shot off both his hands intentionally to collect insurance.

Amid wildest outbursts ever permitted in Federal Judge John McNary's court, the Count insisted that a shotgun wrapped in newspapers was discharged accidentally when he tripped over a lamp cord.

CALLED TO STAND
Du Barry stalked gravely to the stand. For the first time in court he did not wear artificial hands.

"Raise your right hand and be sworn," said Clerk Hal Kenyon. "I have no hands," Du Barry said sadly, raising a stump.

His mental tension increasing, du Barry related how a lamp fell against a stockless gun once owned by Kaiser Wilhelm, discharging it and riddling his hands.

PILOT TOLD
"By some decree of fate I was put here in this court in this condition," the Count shouted, holding his arms aloft. "All I ask under this flag is justice."

Du Barry exploded wrathfully when asked if he had suggested to William Harner, State witness, that they kill a man resembling the Count and dump the body in the ocean, so the "Countess" might collect her husband's insurance.

"Such a statement is outrageous," roared Du Barry. "I come of a family hundreds of years old and honored family. We du Barrys kill ourselves, but never another like that, I have honor."

RECESS CALLED
"The blood of John Hay flows in my veins. John Hay freed the slaves of the world. I come here because it is my duty to the public to come here and fight this thing just as John Hay fought slavery."

Judge McNary called a recess. Yesterday he ordered du Barry from the court, but relented and admitted his return today.

Under cross-examination du Barry admitted he was born in Canada and left there to avoid war service.

"We du Barrys lost our heads on both sides of the French revolution," he roared. "My ancestors fought for the Republic and fought for the Crown. They both lost their heads. I didn't hold with such utter foolishness, and left to escape the war."

Lightning Gives Man Clean Shave

PARMA, Italy, July 31.—UP—Luciano Codeluppi, peasant, leaned from his window to watch a storm today.

Lightning struck, shaving his beard and mustache.

Relatives found him sitting on the floor rubbing his clean-shaven face meditatively, unhurt.

YOUR HEALTH

Real Sunshine Is Best Cure for Rickets and Bone Diseases

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

SUNSHINE! What is it? What effects does it have on our growth and development? Plant and animal life are dependent on sunshine for light and heat, and man is dependent on lower forms of life as well as radiation; but an important thing is the action of the sun's rays on the functioning of the human body.

Dr. Henry Lawrence, of Tulane University's School of Medicine, has written an excellent book on the subject, entitled "Physiological Effects of Radiant Energy," as well as others on similar subjects. They are noted as comprehensive and are truly scientific. Often I go to sleep while reading them; but they are good.

"Though light properly refers to rays by which objects are visible, the word 'sunlight' is also used loosely to mean all the energy radiated by the sun. These include the infra-red long or heat waves and ultra-violet or short waves, neither of which type is visible."

Dr. Lawrence says further, "To arrive at an intelligent attitude toward the effects of sunlight we must start with certain fundamental physical data. Such as: the sun is ninety-three million miles from the earth; its diameter is one hundred and ten times that of the earth; it emits some thirteen thousand times that of the earth."

Brightness Not Calculable

Its brightness is so great that we cannot express it. The intense calcinability of an electric arc light, placed between the eye and the sun will look like a black spot. The heat of the sun is prodigious. The temperature at the surface is not less than sixteen thousand degrees Fahrenheit.

Even at our vast distance the sun's heat received by the surface of the earth will melt annually a layer of ice more than one hundred feet in thickness. That portion of the sun's radiation which is received by the earth represents 1/2200 miles, with part of the total light and heat radiated.

That sounds all right, but it is like the relief money; we have no way to measure it and can only guess at the magnitude. Most of us can comprehend one hundred dollars or one hundred miles, but as it reaches the higher brackets it is only a figure followed by a variable number of "naughts."

The intensity of the sunshine depends on many things, such as the geographic location, the season of the year and the time of day; also on atmospheric conditions, of smoke and dust, cloudiness and humidity. At noon time the ultra-violet rays are at their highest point of efficiency and decrease as the sun goes down.

One great use of sun light and the ultra-violet rays is to enable the body to break down the plant foods within the body and aid the anatomy to deposit their calcium in the bones to prevent and cure rickets. This power has been found to be eight times greater in summer than in winter.

Skin Is a Medium

Lawrence points out that the skin is not simply a protection against the sun's rays, but is the medium to carry its energy to the body. Exposure to the sun causes increase in the flow of the blood to the skin, causing pigmentation or tanning and general bodily improvement, not only in the portion exposed, but in all parts of the skin and causes it to become ruddy, soft, smooth and elastic.

Sun light not only increases the blood flow, improves the color, texture and activity of the skin but changes many chemical conditions of the system. Fresh or old wounds heal much more quickly if exposed to the sun's rays either directly or by reflected light in which the direct rays are not admitted but shaded.

The ultra-violet stimulates increased granulation and the infra-red or long rays, cause an increase in the blood supply and penetrate the deeper layers. Too direct rays may damage the eye on too long exposure or too much reflection as from snow or ice, or water.

Sun light increases bodily resistance to disease and promotes the formation of bone. When enough sunshine can not be obtained to produce sufficient vitamin D to prevent rickets the use of ultra-violet ray machines can be advised.

The two most valuable results of light treatments are the cure of rickets and relief of bone tuberculosis. Get direct sunlight, if possible; if not ultra-violet rays, but if you can't get

Bulging Arms Can Be Ended By Exercise

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WHILE beach fashions bring the back and shoulders into a prominence they have not enjoyed for sometime, daytime dresses and evening clothes call attention to the arms. Soft, draped fabrics or youthful organdies are lovely, but only on the woman who has soft, shapely arms.

If you do happen to have bulging, over-stout arms there are two things that you can do. You can take advantage of the long-sleeved type of gown—which is the easiest way—or you can be sensible and get rid of the offending bulges.

First, what causes them? If your stoutness is general you must be wise in your choice of a diet and you must plan a series of exercises to burn up the excess fat in your body. Remember in planning your diet that it is not what you eat that makes you fat—but what you eat in excess of your bodily needs. I have lead in including reducing exercises and a little book of calorie tables and menus to help you lose your excess weight. If you would like to have them, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A reducing program may not sound like fun, but once your body is lithe and graceful and unburdened by excess flesh you will look more interesting and attractive and will feel better this summer.

Now the arms. Sometimes their bulges and flabbiness are caused from disuse. Exercises will reduce the bulges and make the muscles firm and elastic. Arm exercises are also good for improving the posture and keeping the waistline in proportion.

Begin the exercises for flabby arms with a thorough massage of the fatty portions, alternating the arms frequently so the one that is massaging will not become too tired. After the massage, try this exercise:

Shake the hands limply back and forth to give the wrists grace and poise, then shake the forearms from the elbows. Finally swing and shake the entire arm from the shoulder socket, leaving the wrists and elbows limp. This simple exercise limbers the muscles and improves the circulation.

Next stand up straight with your feet together. Raise your right arm and swing it out in front of you then drop it down and swing it back and forth until your arm describes a full circle like a windmill. Do this with both arms, then relax a few minutes and repeat.

When the arms are tired, knead them a few minutes and pat vigorously with pads of cotton dipped in ice water. Try this treatment twice daily.

A time-table of beauty events for brides who want to be glamorous is contained in the leaflet, "Beauty For Spring Brides." Just send a stamped self-addressed envelope if you

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: Every spring I have trouble with my skin. It gets sallow, with a few blackheads and occasional eruptions. Later in the summer it will probably improve, but I would like to do something to clear it up now.

ANSWER: A bread-and-butter letter is addressed to one's late hostess after being entertained by her over a Sunday or for a longer period. It is a simple note of thanks. Etiquette demands that it go forth at once upon arriving safely at home. Only a few lines are necessary. But if you have news, you may make the bread-and-butter letter long and chatty, if you wish.

QUESTION: "Is it ever proper to read while eating?"—A.S.

ANSWER: If you are alone, whether at home or in a restaurant, it is permissible. But when someone else is present, as this would indicate that you find your book or newspaper more interesting than the company, it is all right to excuse yourself if it won't take more than a few minutes to read.

By IRENE VAIL
New York—You don't have to go to sea to wear a sailor suit. Landlubbers wear them, and are they smart! One of the ranking costume houses has made them in regulation white and navy lacings, sailor collar, and all women have found them not only good but irresistible. So it's not only the sailor hat, but the sailor blouse that's captured the feminine fancy. It would appear, on snatching the very best men's styles for their own. Slim ladies buy their shirts from haberdashers—not only shirts, but lots of other things beside.

Tennis dresses, like sailor suits, are worn by women who neither sail nor serve. Heretofore the best liked tennis dresses have been of pique or some such stuff dressy enough in their fashion to be worn anywhere. Plaids enter the tennis field now—and so do dotted fabrics, although serious players prefer something that will not cause them to take their eye off the ball.

Sheer seersuckers, as well as the other sort are still serving well in vacation and stay-at-home wardrobes. So many dresses are made with skirts buttoning over shirts that it seems best to remind active women that the grown-up play suit is a very practical garment.

Sketched today, the white Swiss organdie cuffs, jabot and collar are edged with white braid adding effectiveness to this frock of red checked gingham. Another way of using Swiss organdie is the tucked yoke, with narrow collar and a tucked tie, arranged on a frock of pink dotted Swiss.

Grilled Dishes Pleasing and Always Right

By JUDITH WILSON

WHEN you want meals that are economical and at the same time light and interesting, plan a mixed grill. Introduce spring-like touches in the vegetables and dessert. There are many good grill combinations, all inexpensive, pleasing to the eye and appetite. The recipes are planned for four persons.

For the first grilled combination, buy four good-sized lamb kidneys, eight slices of bacon and four fat link sausages. Saute the sausages and kidneys until partly done, then arrange on wire skewers, one slice of bacon doubled, one-half kidney sprinkled with salt and paprika, a sausage, then another piece of kidney and finally another slice of bacon. Preheat the broiler and arrange the skewers on the rack. Grill, turning frequently until the bacon is brown and crisp. Serve on triangles of buttered toast. For additional flavor sprinkle with a few drops of lemon juice or Worcestershire sauce.

Fillets of Flounder

While the meat is browning, you can slip the baked potatoes, the pulp of which has been mashed and seasoned, and the halved tomatoes under the flame to reheat thoroughly and brown. Either sweets or white potatoes are good. If sweets are used, mix the pulp with chopped marshmallows and nuts. Fried bacon, chopped, may be added to white potato.

The second grill combination is good for Friday lunch or dinner. Preheat the broiler and oil the rack thoroughly. On it arrange well buttered and seasoned fillets of flounder or other white fish, and the bananas that have been peeled, rolled in lemon juice and wrapped in strips of bacon. Hold the bacon in place with toothpicks. Parboiled potatoes, sliced, buttered and seasoned, may be browned under the broiler flame at the same time. Turn the fish once and the wrapped bananas frequently until evenly browned on all sides. Serve very hot on plates garnished with parsley and lemon.

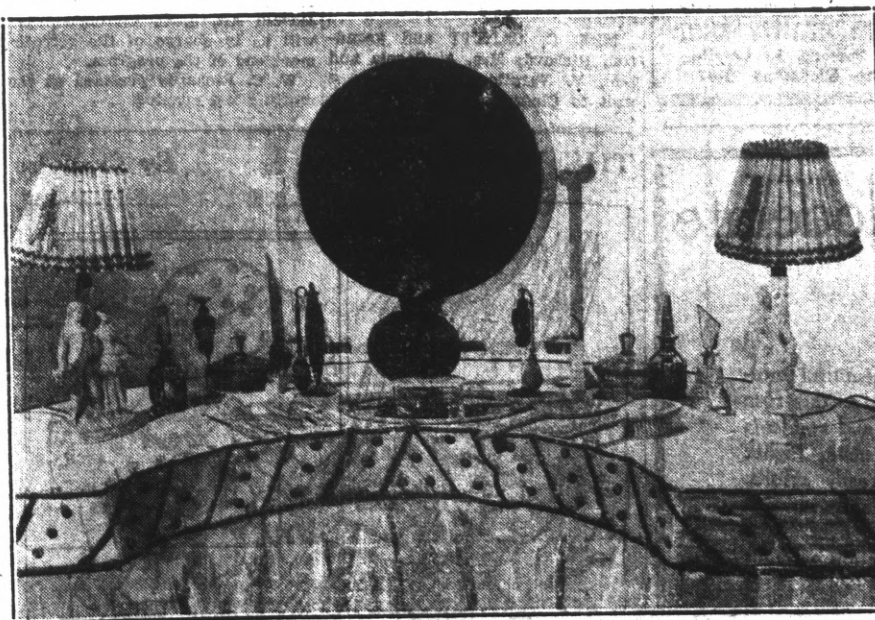

The desserts that accompany our grilled dinners are so good that you will want to know how to make them.

Cinnamon Toast-Pie
Make four large slices of cinnamon toast, cut into small triangles and place in a shallow, greased baking dish. Cover with two and one-half cups slightly sweetened apple sauce. Beat the whites of two eggs until stiff, then beat in four tablespoons of powdered sugar, one teaspoon of lemon juice and one-half teaspoon of grated lemon rind. Pile the meringue in little peaks over the apple sauce and bake in a slow oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. Serve immediately.

Rhubarb Shortcake
Make a rich, slightly sweetened biscuit dough. Divide and bake in two round pie tins. Butter when the rounds are taken from the oven and spread this filling between and on top of the layers:

Wash and dice two cups rhubarb. Stew with one-half cup of white sugar, one-half cup of maple sugar and a stick of cinnamon until the rhubarb is tender and very thick. Cool slightly and use as filling for the shortcake. Top with whipped cream. This is good when served at once.

Problem of the Wife Whose Husband Is Lionized by the Ladies

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

FATHERHOOD has no lure for some men. The socially successful man whose goal is pleasure may not be above leaving his wife home with her brood while he spreads sunshine along the primrose path.

"My dear Mrs. Martin: I am thirty-three and married to a me two years older. He is very attractive to women and we are invited out a great deal just because of it. He's a beautiful dancer, plays the banjo, and has quite a line with the ladies. I don't mind all that, because I feel sure that he really loves me, but I can't help but feel badly over the fact that I am a sort of also-ran and am asked because of him. I don't shine socially because I am a quiet homebody. Good looking enough, but not what they call smart. We've been married four years, and I want to start raising a family, but my husband says we can't really afford it and that we have years ahead of us and that he doesn't want to be tied down. What am I to do, Mrs. Martin? I am so afraid that I can't hold my husband as things are, and I do love him so.—Penelope."

You and Your Child

Loose Money Leads Child to Play

E. JANE HERBERT GOWARD

RAYMOND was wandering through the house. He was not exactly snooping. Rather it happened that he had nothing else to do at the time, and he did not feel like sitting.

In passing through the dining room, he picked a banana off the fruit dish, peeled it and continued on his way eating. Over the living room mantelpiece there hangs a mirror. He and stood studying himself as he chewed. Then his eye was attracted to some money on top of the mantelpiece. There were several dollar bills, weighted down by a handful of loose change of various denominations.

As Raymond had nothing to do anyway, he began playing with the money. At first he merely fingered it. Then he set himself to the task of stacking the coins in neat piles according to size. It did not occur to him just yet to count the money. He may have thought of this later, and have been tempted possibly to pocket a coin or so.

But here mother came into the room. "What are you doing there, Raymond?" she asked suspiciously. Raymond removed his hand with a jerk. "Oh, nothing. Just looking around." "Well, be sure you leave that money alone. I didn't put it there to be played with."

Raymond wandered off into the next room, his mother close at his heels. For in the next room she also found money laying around. The boy, thinking that he was being hurried out of the house, announced that he was going. "Don't be late for dinner," mother cautioned cheerfully. On her way out, she touched the change on the bureau top. Evidently, she too could not resist the temptation of handling it.

If you wish to teach a child to be careful with your money, don't leave it laying around. Keep it in your purse; and put the purse away for safe-keeping.

You must not take it to heart that you are considered as a sort of trailer to your husband. I admit it is an unattractive role, but it's better than being left behind, which has been the fate of more than one wife. Why not take stock of your own assets and see what you can do about shining a little yourself, instead of moping about in the reflected radiance of your husband? Self-consciousness may be your trouble. Of an inferiority complex.

Make the most of your good looks. Choose the best clothes you can afford, by which I mean the clothes that suit you best. Play up your good points and come out of your shell sufficiently to have a good time on your own hook.

But first of all, keep your husband home long enough and sufficiently under your influence to find out just what his plans are for your future. Don't be afraid of wounding his vanity—paint him a picture of the future as he is building it.

Tell him frankly what you want out of life and learn from him what he wants, so that you may not be at cross purposes. You must make him realize that you are ready for motherhood and that it would be unwise for you to start mothering a family later. You might as well have this thing out. It's vastly important to his future and yours to know just what you both want. If it isn't the same thing you must trust in your love for each other to effect some sort of compromise.

Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondent. Names will not be published. Address her care of this paper.

Judge Rules On Adultery Case

VIENNA, Austria, July 31.—UP—When a woman gives a "boy friend" a key to her home without the advance knowledge and approval of her husband, judicial adultery has been committed by the woman, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The decision was handed down in a case involving a scrub woman who lived one of her husband's friends. She gave him a house key without asking the husband's permission. Because the friend was jobless she gave him an occasional warm supper and permitted him to remain in her company.

Both denied improper relations but the court held such must be assumed if the husband had not been informed.

Economics Are Blamed For Nazi Anti-Jewish War

BERLIN, July 31.—UP—Economic crisis, resulting from Germany's crippled world trade, partly due to boycotts abroad, and mounting prices for the necessities of life was advanced to night as a major factor prompting the increasingly bitter Nazi anti-Jewish, anti-Catholic and anti-Stahlhelm campaign.

Persecutions spread throughout the Reich as officials, allegedly striving to meet growing discontent, gave the populace "something else to think about" in campaigning against offenses not in keeping with national Socialist conceptions.

No laws legally defining the offenses have been promulgated, but officials throughout the Reich banned Jews from bathing beaches, made wholesale arrests for "racial pollution" and restricted Jews to trade among themselves.
